OHIO LEGISLATURE.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—The senate was in session just thirty minutes Monday afternoon. There was a bare quorum present, and nothing but local legislation was attempted. Senator McMakin's bill to authorize the commissioners of Butler county to levy a special tax of eight-tenths of a mill was passed and messaged over to the house, where it was assigned to the tender mercies of Hon. Tom Goldrick.

HOUSE.—Mr. Clapp Monday introduced a bill calculated to remedy a crying evil in the trust law—namely, that unique act governing members of society referred to as the "juvenile disorderly persons." It seems that the law in some counties—Geauga, for instance—is inoperative, inasmuch as the justice is unable to compel the payment of the fine on furnishing of the bond by the juvenile's parents or guardian. Mr. Clapp proposed a bill to amend the law, and submit the same to the commission of four to codify and revise the trust laws, and submit the results of their work to the general assembly. Their compensation is to be ten dollars a day. A large number of local bills were passed.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15.—SENATE.—Bills passed: To amend sections of the revised statutes relating to the destruction of Canada thistles; to prohibit bartering in state, court and municipal orders and bills; changing law governing struck juries. In addition several local bills were passed. Bills introduced: To create a sinking fund to refund Cleveland's school bond indebtedness; to permit legal notices to be published in daily law registers. Senator Von Seggern's bill, authorizing Cincinnati to sell the Southern road, was on the senate calendar for third reading Tuesday. Upon motion of Mr. Von Seggern further consideration of the measure was postponed until next Tuesday.

HOUSE.—Bills passed: Providing that no officers shall hold two commissions in the national guard; authorizing the commissioners of Clarke county to issue $30,000 bonds to pay delinquent taxes; creating a special school district in Goshen, Mahoning county; to reconstruct a pipe in Green county; to authorize Norwood to borrow $25,000 for sewerage purposes; authorizing the improving and widening of the Cincinnati, Oakley and Madison road; authorizing Portsmouth to issue bonds for a sewer; to prevent hunting and selling of liquor within one-half mile of the Youngstown Township park.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 16.—SENATE.—The senate passed the Phillips' bill amending section 6188 so as to allow executives or administrators reasonable attorney's fees and expenses in all litigation involving property of the estate or in which the will is set aside or not. Senator Green (by request) introduced a bill providing for the vacation of a county road that remains unopened for public use for four years after the order for its maintenance is made. It was passed. The house bill equalizing vehicle license in Cincinnati, so that wagons without springs shall pay $10 and those with springs $10, was passed and is a law.

HOUSE.—The house gave the pool selling bill another reading Wednesday morning and defeated it by a vote of 44 in the affirmative and 48 in the negative. Before doing so it passed a couple of bills, one by Representative McGranahan, which provides that when any question is submitted to a court on motion or demurrer it shall be decided within twenty days. That when a case is finally heard upon its merits the court shall give decision within ninety days. Mr. Padney's house bill appropriating $500 for Representative Paxton to defray the expenses of a contest with Mr. Frazer was passed.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—SENATE.—Senator Parker introduced a bill Thursday afternoon which provides that no person holding a commission as county recorder shall practice law in the courts of the county of which he is an official. Senator McMakin will probably try to have the prohibition extended to all county officials except the prosecuting attorney. It is alleged that recorders who practice law take advantage of their position to secure business. Mr. Conklin's bill, providing that a judge shall not sit in a case, shall be decided within twenty days, was passed. It is alleged that a judge shall not sit in a case, nor to any attorney engaged therein, was again postponed for passage in the senate and was again postponed.

HOUSE.—The Taylor bill passed Thursday. It provides that any married man who shall fraudulently represent himself to be unmarried, and make proposals of marriage to any unmarried female of good character, or repeatedly call on or keep company with such female upon such false pretense that he is unmarried, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction, be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500, or imprisoned in the county jail not less than six months nor more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. McMakin's divorce bill was again postponed Thursday morning, owing to the absence of the author, and it will come up next Wednesday; it will, in all probability, be defeated.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 18.—SENATE.—Mr. Lamson Friday introduced a bill to empower trustees of townships and councils of villages to act jointly in the purchase of a horse and the erection of cemetery vaults. The senate then adjourned till Monday at 4 p. m.

HOUSE.—Bills introduced: To authorize the recorder of Hamilton county to transcribe any of the records of the office which have become torn and mutilated; providing that owners of yellow pine partition fences shall not permit them to grow to a greater height than six feet; providing that persons injured by the sale of intoxicating liquors shall not be required to give security for costs; providing that the prosecuting attorney can recover any money illegally taken from the county treasury; increasing the salary of the assistant law librarian from $1,000 to $1,300 per annum. The house then adjourned till Monday at 4 p. m.

The twelfth annual state college oratorical contest resulted as follows: Myron J. Jones, Wooster, first; Everett McCaskell, O. W. U., second; W. M. Ellett, Mt. Union, third; Benton D. Myers, Buchtel, fourth; J. C. Skinner, O. S. U., fifth; L. H. Carmack, Dennison, sixth; C. G. Mathews, O. U., seventh; L. F. Hanger, Wittenburg, eighth; W. H. Coleman, Marietta, ninth.

THE ELEMENTS.

A Snow-Storm Followed by Thunder and Lightning.

A Howling Wind Lends Its Fury to Make Matters More Interesting—Three Feet of Snow in Buffalo, N. Y.—The Worst Storm in Many Years.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 20.—At 6 o'clock Sunday night a terrific blizzard swept over this city and vicinity, accompanied by peals of thunder and flashes of lightning. It had been snowing all day, and in the evening the fury of the storm increased. The wind, blowing forty miles an hour from the southwest, drove the snow before it in sheets. Pedestrians almost within reach of their own doors became confused by the blinding snow and had serious difficulty in reaching places of safety.

For fully half an hour the blizzard raged, the mercury going down ten degrees. The air seemed to be packed with flying snow, the wind howling frightfully, and lightning played about in a dangerous manner. Residents of this city, thinking that a repetition of the terrible tornado of 1890 was about to be enacted, fortified themselves as best they could, and waited nervously for the worst. Fortunately, however, the wind abated, and all fears of a tornado were allayed. The wind worked havoc in exposed places about the city, where signs were blown down, window glass shattered, and telephone and telegraph wires prostrated. The storm paralyzed traffic on the electric roads, and all trains running into this city are late.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 20.—The worst storm in years is prevailing throughout western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio and portions of West Virginia. It has been snowing for forty-eight hours, and from ten to eighteen inches now covers the ground. The wind is blowing a gale, and the snow is drifting badly. All trains are from one to four hours late, but so far no accidents have been reported.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Snow fell all day Sunday, and at 9 o'clock was three feet deep on Main street. Street cars have been blocked for several hours. The wind at one time this afternoon reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour.

GILBERT ISLANDS.

King Wants the United States to Establish a Protectorate There.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Among those who arrived on the Australian steamer Monowai were Ex-American Consul Rick and Mr. Rick, but Mr. Rick said he received a letter from the state department last November ordering him to close his office and return home, at the seizure of the islands by England made his further stay unnecessary. Rick shut up shop November 26, and sailed for Sydney. He says the old king made a pathetic appeal to him to interpose the American government in his behalf, as he claims his people prefer American to an English protectorate.

Rick thinks the king will soon lose his mind if he is not relieved of his present worry, in which case the English will appoint a king who will be their tool. He says the American trade will soon be ruined as the British traders are favored by their government and the feeling against Americans is strong. The natives prefer to deal with Americans, but they are given to understand that it will not be healthy for them to do so.

Another Effort for Sunday Opening.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Mr. Durbin says he will call a meeting of his committee for next Monday for the purpose of considering Mr. Houk's bill to permit the opening of the World's fair on Sunday afternoons, subject to the rules of the commission and the laws of Illinois. He is not making a prediction as to the result, but he is encouraged to believe a full attendance can be secured, or at least that he can get a quorum, with the majority of the Sunday openers in attendance.

A Place for Josiah Quincy.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Referring to cabinet possibilities for the places yet to be filled by President-elect Cleveland, a local democratic paper says: The secretaryship of the navy will undoubtedly go to New England. It is positively asserted that Josiah Quincy, of Massachusetts, had been tendered and had accepted the portfolio. It was said to have been offered to him when he made his trip by special train to Lakewood Sunday last.

O'Donnell Not Guilty.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 20.—The trial of Hugh O'Donnell ended Saturday morning in a verdict of not guilty. O'Donnell was, at the beginning of the Homestead troubles, last July, the chairman of the celebrated advisory board. He was charged with murder in aiding and abetting the riot on the banks of the river which resulted in the battle with the Pinkertons and the death of several persons.

Connecticut Gains on a Re-Survey.

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 20.—The topographical survey of Connecticut just completed shows its area to be 5,004 square miles, or 340 square miles greater than given by some authorities. The cost of the survey, maps, etc., to the state has been $25,000, or about $5 per square mile. The general assembly has been asked to appropriate $5,000 to print, publish and distribute the map.

Warrant for B. K. Rockefeller.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 20.—A depositor of the broken Rockefeller bank named Rhodes has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of G. V. Rockefeller, charging the banker with receiving a deposit after he knew the bank was insolvent.

A Monster Gorilla.

A gigantic gorilla, measuring seventy inches across its chest and with shoulders as wide as those of three men united, was shot by Lieut. Morgan's party recently at a place twenty-five days' march from the coast of Cameroon, Africa. The creature was so heavy and unwieldy that it required the efforts of sixteen men to drag it to the station.

PARIS OF SOUTH AMERICA.

Lima, a City Whose Whole Tone Imparts an Air of Gayety and Gladness.

Lima, six miles inland from Callao, is popularly known as the Paris of South America. According to the Cincinnati Post, its women are the most beautiful and the gayest; its men are the best educated, give more attention to the sciences and are the most extensively traveled in that continent. Its theater and opera are always of the highest order; its diamonds are of the purest water, and it shares with New York the claim of being the greatest diamond mart on the western hemisphere. In architecture it is on the Moorish lines, ornamented with the Italian's taste and his pencil. In color the tone of the whole city is that of gladness itself; it is as bright as the sun without being white. It is hard to realize that you are looking on adobe walls when you are in a Lima street, yet it is so. This class of construction admits of great facility in molding, and, there being no rain to speak of, is enduring. The lower stories of the houses are thus built, and when it is necessary to go higher the upper portion will be of bamboo, stuccoed with mud; then all is handsomely finished in plaster of paris, in which the country abounds. The furnishing of a Lima house belonging to one of the wealthy is generally in brighter colors than the American of the north affects. The luxury is great, the houses being splendid palaces. If the women are gay, they are also extremely dignified—they are the most intelligent of their sex in Latin America and are the most charming companions in the drawing-room, where the desire to please is stimulated by the hospitality of their tempers. Lima streets are well paved, but the sidewalks are narrow, compelling the passenger to often take to the driveway to pass the man he meets. Club life is an institution of Lima as of other civilized communities, but the Lima gentleman is fond of his home.

NO NAME TO CONJURE BY.

United States Mail Had to Give Way to a Big Teamster.

"Yes, I have some funny experiences on the road," said a New York drummer, just in from a trip through Texas and Mexico, to a New York Recorder man.

"Not long ago I was going from Eddy to Roswell, N. M., on the stage coach, myself and the driver being all on board. We met a great many teamsters loaded with goods from the railroad towns for the interiors, and I noticed that every one of them made the stage give the road. I asked the driver what made him do it, telling him that the law requires everything else to give the right of way to the United States mail."

"Now," I said, "the next wagon we meet you keep the road and I'll do the talking."

"All right, boss, of you say so," he answered, smiling peculiarly.

"Well, we met the next wagon at a very bad place in the road, and the driver, obeying my instructions, stopped. I put my head out of the coach and called out to the teamster in front of us that he must turn out, as this was Uncle Sam's mail."

"The teamster went down into his wagon box and, whipping out a big Colt's revolver, said:

"'Looky here, young man, I'll have you to know that this ain't no kinty uv plug hats, an' that Uncle Sam don't travel this road; an' ef he dhd by holkey he'd haf to give the road when he carried the lightest load! Now, I'll give you just one minit to get out'n my way!'"

"Well?" asked the listener, seeing the narrator pause, "what did you do?"

"The drummer smiled."

"We got," he answered, "and had thirty seconds to spare."

WAITING FOR JIM ALLISON.

The Virginia Mountaineer Still Retains Some of His Old-Fashioned Ficty.

Down in the mountain regions of Virginia, said a commercial traveler to an Indianapolis Journal man, there still exists a great deal of the old-fashioned piety which prevailed in the days when it was customary to run a dagger into an obnoxious person's gizzard and then pray for the repose of his soul. I was traveling on horseback, of course, through that region last summer, when I came across an old fellow half hidden in the underbrush by the side of the road. He was sitting so quiet, and his weather-beaten clothes so well matched the prevailing tints of the locality that I should have probably passed without seeing him if my horse hadn't shied. When he saw that he was discovered he stood up and looked at me for a moment or two without speaking. As he had a rifle that looked at that instant to be near seven feet long thrown across his arm I felt it my duty to be sociable. I said:

"'Hunting?'"

"No," said he, "I haint. I'm a-waitin' fer Jim Allison to come this way, an' if the Lord is willin' I'low to blow the top of his blamed head off."

An Odd Profession.

It is the custom in France for panegyrics to be pronounced at the graves of notable persons, and even obscure men have their praises sung in the cemetery. This has resulted in the appearance of a professional panegyrist, always to be found in a wine shop hard by the cemetery. He is known as "Monsieur du Cimetiére." He has on hand an assortment of orations to suit customers. All he needs are a few hints about the life and career of the defunct, and he evolves the rest from his imagination. The mourners never fail to be convinced that in the deceased the world lost one of its greatest men or women.
